Your skin is the largest organ in your body and is responsible for one-fourth of your body's detoxification each day. This makes the skin one of your most important elimination organs and keeping it stimulated is vital for good health.

Description

Your skin is the largest organ in your body and is responsible for one-fourth of your body's detoxification each day. This makes the skin one of your most important elimination organs and keeping it stimulated is vital for good health.

This bath infusion is designed to help exfoliate the skin and improve circulation, keeping the pores open and encouraging your body's discharge of metabolic wastes. This process can help tighten the skin, dissolve cellulite, and increase cell renewal.
